Workers' Compensation Insurance Coverage On-Line

The RI Department of Labor and Training web site now offers a link to verify workers' compensation insurance coverage.

Through a partnership with the National Council on Compensation Insurance, the Department now links to a national database for workers' compensation insurance coverage. The database can be searched by either employer name or Federal Employer Identification Number (FEIN). To access this database, visit the workers' compensation portion of the Department of Labor and Training web site at <http://www.dlt.ri.gov/wc/> and click on the "Find Coverage" button.

This self-service coverage verification will be particularly convenient for medical providers, legal personnel and any other professionals involved in claims filing.
